NINE MORE WELLS AT FORT TERRY Water Supply Will Be Greatly Improved for the Soldiers.

The office of the constructing quartermaster of the New London artillery district has been authorized to make extensive improvements to the water supply at Fort Terry. The improvements will consist of driving nine with the transfer of the construction of the constru eight-ineh tubular wells, reconstruct-ing the present temporary building and installing an electrically driven plunger pump with a capacity of 273

The installing of the wells is as a supplement to the present water sup-ply of the reservation, which is given by five tubular wells constructed last cent. These were driven as an ex-periment and having been found prac-ical and successful, the government had decided to increase the supply.

The new wells will be driven ten inches below mean low water. The permanent building replacing the present structure will be a frame build-

Judge Holcomb Gives Decision Against Charles H. Heath in Suit Brought by His Wife.

Memorandum of decision is handed down by Judge Holcomb of the superior court in the case of Bessie A. Heath vs. Charles H. Heath, her hus-band, in which the court decrees that the sum of $764.91 deposited in the name of Charles H. Heath, trustee for name of Charles R. Heath, trustee for William Eddy, belonged individually to said Charles A. Heath and was transferred by him to the trustee in a fraudulent attempt to evade liability on his part to support his wife. The court rules that the plaintiff is entitled o recover of the Dime Savings bank the deposit of $764.91, less expenses of $22.89. William Eddy died May 38th 1903, but on February 27th, 1907, Mr. Heath made a transfer to this trustee account, which the judge now rules was a fraudulent transfer and there-

I am certainly fascinated with Ma an certainty fascinated with Ma-nils. It is a great surprise to me is many respects. Its streets are very broad, with splendid great trees; the branches in some of the streets reach-ing out, almost touch, forming a perfect arcade over the roadway, as in so many of the Washington streets. "In the Intramuros the streets though very narrow, are exquisitely kept, clean and sanitary. The climate here is wonderful; glorious nights and mornings. It is pretty warm in the middle of the day, when we take a siesta, even the stores closing from 12

"During Holy week, the first week in April, we went into four different churches in the walled city. Good Fri-day evening we saw a procession start-ing from Santo Temas. The first part of the procession, with its representa-tion of the Virgin Mary, gorgeously apparelled and radian; with jewels, was followed by hundreds of wome in black, with vells, carrying tal lighted candles. Then came a choir of beys and men with a hand, chanting dirges, this being followed by a rep-resentation of Jesus.
